

Letter of Mark Trudeau, Mallinckrodt's President and Chief Executive Officer, to Mallinckrodt Employees

This marks an incredibly exciting and momentous day for Mallinckrodt Pharmaceuticals, yet another in our first year as a publicly traded company. This morning, less than three weeks after bringing Cadence Pharmaceuticals into Mallinckrodt, we announced that we've entered into a definitive merger agreement whereby Questcor Pharmaceuticals will be acquired by Mallinckrodt. Following the closing of this transaction, we expect that we'll significantly increase our scale, revenue, cash flow and profitability while enhancing and expanding the depth of our growing portfolio of Specialty Brands.

If you weren't able to listen to the live call, I encourage you to listen to the replay, which is posted on our investor relations section of Mallinckrodt.com. You can also find our press release there.

This transaction is consistent with the strategic BD&L objectives that we have defined previously – to drive growth through opportunities that fit well with our core strengths, drive profit, and support our pipeline or are immediately accretive. It also aids our strategy of advancing the portfolio through focused R&D investments that leverage our core capabilities. Merging with Questcor clearly fits these criteria, both in terms of the accretive addition to our adjusted diluted earnings per share, as well as the R&D opportunities it will bring for our entire science organization to play a role.

Under the terms of the transaction, Questcor shareholders will receive $30.00 per share in cash and 0.897 Mallinckrodt shares for each share of Questcor common stock. Following completion of the merger, Mallinckrodt shareholders will own approximately 50.5% and former Questcor shareholders will own approximately 49.5% of the combined company.

We're thrilled to bring together two fast-growing, specialty pharmaceutical companies, creating what we believe will be a significant and sustainable platform for future revenue and earnings growth, and will provide exceptional value for shareholders of both companies. Importantly, the acquisition will add to our Specialty Pharmaceuticals segment a significant new branded product, H.P. Acthar® Gel, an injectable therapy used in the treatment of a number of serious, difficult-to-treat autoimmune and inflammatory disorders where patients often have exhausted other good therapeutic options. Acthar has demonstrated impressive revenue growth in the past few years, and we expect future growth will be driven by increased prescribing for current on-label indications, and possibly future new indications as well.

Following on the heels of the Cadence acquisition and FDA approval of XARTEMIST™ XR, our transaction with Questcor will solidify our growth in the Specialty Pharmaceuticals industry, adding Acthar to our growing roster of brands like OFIRMEV®, EXALGO®, XARTEMIST™ XR and, longer term, MNK-155, in addition to our portfolio of core controlled substance specialty generics.

Upon completion of the transaction, approximately 70% of the fiscal year 2014 pro forma revenues of the combined company will come from branded and specialty generic pharmaceutical products. This is consistent with our objective to become a top quartile specialty pharmaceutical company by 2018 as measured by total shareholder return.

With the closing of the transaction, Questcor commercial operations will function as a separate business unit within Mallinckrodt's Specialty Pharmaceuticals segment reporting directly to me. We expect to add Questcor executives to Mallinckrodt's executive leadership team. We'll also expand the Mallinckrodt Board of Directors to twelve members, with the addition of three directors from Questcor, including their CEO.

In the coming days, we'll be establishing a joint integration team to begin to plan the post-closing integration details and some of you will be asked to be part of that next stage. We expect the transaction to close by the end of the third calendar quarter this year.

A special thanks to those who contributed to the exceptional work that was done to put this transaction together. Many of these same individuals continue to also play a role in the integration of Cadence, demonstrating solid professionalism and modeling the behaviors that are at the core of our cultural hallmarks.

As I've said to you repeatedly, we recognize there is a lot on our plates as we ramp up for growth, which will escalate even further once the merger with Questcor is completed. So even with these positive indications of our BD&L strategy, recent R&D/regulatory successes and the strong financial results reported so far, we must continue to strive for high performance from each and every one of us. I speak for the entire executive committee when I say that I'm incredibly proud of all that we've accomplished, and know we have the employee team in place to truly transform Mallinckrodt into a leading player in an industry that continues to see rapid consolidation. We must continue to challenge ourselves to do more.

In summary, we believe Questcor is an excellent strategic fit for us. This acquisition positions us to drive even greater value for our shareholders, employees, customers, and, importantly, patients around the world.

Thanks for all you do for Mallinckrodt. As we continue our journey, I rely heavily on your support and ongoing commitment to our success.

Sincerely,

Mark
